Cats, Dogs, Booze, Trees, Keeps Council Up To Past Midnight In Long Session

Without a single me-ow, woof-woof or bark from the audience, or from any city official for that matter, the Carmel City Council passed the first reading of a new city ordinance regulating the number of animals, including cats and dogs, which may be allowed upon a single dwelling site, limiting the number to four cats, dogs, or a combination of the two which have reached the age of twelve months. The ordinance is to become effective 30 days after final adoption. This would normally be effected at the next regular meeting of the Council, but it is possible and probable that such second reading may be had at the adjourned meeting of the Council on March 10. In this event, the ordinance would become law on April 9.

In another ordinance matter, regulating the cutting and trimming of trees, proposals for amendments to the existing ordinance were referred to the city attorney, John W. Morse, for study with the help of the Land and Improvement Committee, Councilmen Grant and Buffington. The proposed regulations deal with the manner and time of tree trimming on both public and private property.

Consideration of a request to the City Council by the Carmel Association of Insurance Agents for appointment as exclusive agents of the city in certain insurance coverage, was referred to a committee appointed by Mayor Herbert B. Blanks to study the matter and impose specifications and safeguards. Councilmen Eben Whittlesey and Steve Grant compose the special committee.

Proposed amendments to the Brown Act, Assembly Bills 295 and 793, were opposed by the city council as of record. The amendments would prohibit any non-public meeting of any public body at any time, which, the Council felt, would greatly inhibit the deliberations, investigations, and freedom of movement of small governing bodies in small towns such as Carmel.

Council also opposed Assembly Bills 54 and 300 which would require the political party affiliation of any candidate for office to be printed on the ballots for city and county offices. The action to oppose was voted 4-1, Councilman Norberg expressing himself in favor of such identification.

The matter of the application for an On Sale, General Liquor License by Howard Baxter and William B. Zambresky was opposed by the Council by Resolution, with provision that a certified copy of the resolution be forwarded to the Alcoholic Beverage Control at Sacramento. Grounds for protest centered on the location being too close to another bar, although the premises are within the legislated limits for such enterprises, according to the local ordinance. The business was formerly The Snack Bar, and later the Pizza Palace, under the present management. It is now to be known as The Tiki Hut.

Matters relating to cooperation between the State Division of Forestry and the Carmel Fire Department were outlined in a proposed mutual aid agreement, which matter was continued to the next council for study.

The Rhyming Philosopher

No. 97

There once was a beagle who raced with an eagle to pursue a fat rabbit and stop it.

While the bird soared so proud with his head in a cloud, but, with feet on the ground, the dog got it.

It's so nice to have fun and just soar in the sun, and expect the world owes you a living.

But you're on the wrong road if you're toting no load, or you're taking much more than you're giving.

It takes effort and will to go climbing uphill, but never to start is much easier.

You can claim that you're stuck with some awful bad luck, like lead in the pants, or amnesia.

Though the top of the heap may seem far, and so steep, it doesn't seem far retrospectively.

Kindly drop me a note, since I just missed the boat, and tell me what else you'd expect of me.

Dr. Friedy Heisler Files For School Board

Assuring Carmel voters of a contest for the two vacancies to occur for the Board of Education of the Carmel Unified School District, Dr. Friedy B. Heisler, Carmel psychiatrist, filed nomination papers this week for a place on the Board. The other two candidates are incumbents Robert Newton, board chairman, and Clayton Neill Jr.

Dr. Heisler has been a practicing psychiatrist in Carmel since 1948, and has served as a consultant for the Carmel school district and for neighboring districts. She is a former president of the Monterey County Mental Health Society, and has also served as an instructor with the department of education of the University of California Extension. She obtained her medical degree and served her residency in neuropsychiatry at the Univeristy of Illinois Medical School.

Filing for the school board closes tomorrow, the election being scheduled for Tuesday, April 20.

Tom Hudson Heads Student Body Group

As the result of an election held last week at Carmel High School, Tom Hudson, son of county supervisor Thomson J. Hudson, was elected student body president. Bill Stowers is vice president, Terry Ramsey, secretary, and Bruce Goodsell is treasurer.

Annual Kite Festival March 13 At Jr. High

With the arrival of March winds and kite-flying time, junior citizens of the community are preparing for the Annual Kite Festival co-sponsored by the Carmel Lions Club and the Recreation Department of the Carmel Unified School District, which is to be held on Saturday, March 13, commencing at 1:30 p.m. at the Carmel Junior High School.

Entrance rules are (1) all kites must be home made; no commercial kites will be allowed. (2) Each kite must fly to be eligible for prizes, and (3) each kite may be entered in one age group only.

In addition to the various boys and girls age-group prizes, the Willis White prize for the best international design, and the Ernest Calley prize for champion kite will be awarded.

Free Movie Tuesday On Stream Pollution

An illustrated talk on Stream Pollution and its implications on the Monterey County fisheries program, will be presented by Mike Johnson of the State Department of Fish and Game on Tuesday evening from 8 to 9:30 in the "Estrada Adobe" on Tyler Street in Monterey.

Also to be shown will be a movie "Spawning Streams," and slides of Wildcat Creek and the Garrapata. The public is invited to attend, according to Mrs. Thomas C. White, publicity chairman. Refreshments will be served during intermission, and there is no charge for admission.

Cold Shoulder for Master Area Plan From City Council

Opposition to a proposed Area Planning District to be set up by the Monterey County Board of Supervisors, was very much in evidence at the regular meeting of the Carmel City Council last night, with the result that no decision, pro or con, was voted, with the matter continued until the June Council meeting, so that time for study of the project be afforded. This action was taken on motion of Councilman Gunnar Norberg, seconded by Councilman J. C. Buffington, overriding the recommendation of the Carmel Planning Commission for approval. The vote for continuance was 3-2.

In the public hearing held previous to the Council's action, several persons in the audience expressed their views. Former Councilman Frank Putnam, speaking as a private citizen, definitely opposed any kind of approval of the master plan, and urged the Council not to be a party to such recommendation. He stated that he was generally in favor of the creation of conservation areas and greenbelts, but pointed out that the proposition must first receive a two-thirds affirmative vote of the general public in the county in order to create such a district and give it the necessary implementation.

Realtor August Nieto warned the Council that since the county already has a good planning commission, and the City of Carmel has an excellent planning commission, it would be disastrous to relinquish what controls we now have, for the purpose of placing peripheral planning in the hands of a newly-created autonomous body.

Admiral C. W. Fisher, representing the Carmel Citizens Committee, stated that he felt that the Area Master Plan was a good statement of policy, as far as it went, but that the matter would be best administered by the enactment of ordinances. He pointed out that the lack of a master plan is dangerous and inimical to the controlled development of the area.

Mrs. Dorothy von Meier, chairman of the Carmel Planning Commission, defending her commission's action by stating that the Master Plan did not superimpose upon Carmel's master plan, and felt that the Council should support the proposed County Area Planning District.

Councilman Norberg pointed out that previous City Councils had endeavored to establish an entirely different plan of conservation and controls, and that the proposed new plan called for a greater area for development than is to be desired. Our duty to the City of Carmel, he stated, was to hold to a minimum the threat of enormous commercial expansion close to Carmel's city boundaries, and especially in the area designated as the mouth of Carmel Valley. He expressed himself strongly and repeatedly that Carmel had nothing to lose by waiting until after the May meeting of the County Board of Supervisors, in order to better appraise and evaluate the proposal.

Councilman Buffington said he opposed the Master Plan in principle.

Councilman Eben Whittlesey called attention to the fact that Carmel has devoted too much attention to providing for the general encouragement of tourist and day to day visitor business, and not enough attention to the service needs of the citizens of the community. He stated that he felt the Council should let the Board of Supervisors know now in certain terms our position on the Area Plan, although he recognized the need for master planning according to our needs.

Councilman Steve Grant drew attention to the fact that there are two schools of thought on area planning. One is that property owners are opposed to confiscation of their holdings, while, on the other hand, there are those who are too liberal in their desires to control the property of others, to the point where additional roads, park areas and conservation projects tend to deprive property owners of the benefits of their years of hard work, thrift, and foresight.

A letter was read from the League of Women Voters upholding the County Master Plan.

To Be or Not To Be -- Save A Life or Save a Tree -- City Council Has Problem

Whether it is better to retain a few spindly pines which have little life expectancy, or to straighten out Junipero Street between Eighth and Ninth Avenues—that is the question. And this problem was presented to the full City Council on its monthly "Tree Tour" Tuesday afternoon, attended by the City Forester, Street Superintendent, City Engineer, part of the Planning Commission, and others.

For the most of its course, Junipero Street is a rambling two-lane affair, with tree-planted dividing strip, except for one dangerous portion where the heavily traveled thoroughfare narrows to a one-lane curving hazard. Since there is ample waste land to effect the improvement, the majority of the officials viewing the situation seemed in favor of remedying the highly potential danger spot, and called on City Engineer Clayton Neill to blueprint the project for further study.

Also viewed on the tree tour was the Union Oil Station at the corner of Sixth and San Carlos, where plans for remodeling the building, rearranging the driveway entrances, removing a large walnut tree (nearly defunct) and providing ornamental planting of laurel trees was considered.

Plans call for extra gas pumps to be installed, leveling of the grade, and general beautification of the area. The removal of the walnut tree in the San Carlos parking area was shown to be imperative because of the considerable damage to the sidewalk by the root system. On formal motion, the Council gave its approval of the plans, with minor modifications.

In other action the Council granted the request of Mrs. James H. Causey to trim a group of black acacia trees on the east side of Casanova Street between Seventh and Eighth avenues.

Also approved was removal of acacia trees on property of Merle Murphy and William Berlin on Dolores Street between Thirteenth and Santa Lucia. Provision was made, however, that an oak tree be planted in place of the non-indigenous acacias, which reportedly caused suffering to allergy-prone individuals.

Another street improvement for consideration on the agenda, was the race-track corner of San Carlos and Thirteenth which presented problems of uneven grading, plus an accident potential both from the banked turn and the speeding hazard. On regular motion, the Council requested engineering survey and plans calling for removal of the hump in the middle of the intersection, squaring off the corners, and installation of stop signs for north and south-bound traffic.

Some people just have a tin ear and there's nothing you can do about it. When Bob McGinnis was getting ready to leave for Hawaii, Gertie took him over to June Simpson's and had organist Bill Wood play "Sweet Leilani" and "Moon Of Whatever-it-is" and "I Want To Go Back To My Little Grass Shack" over and over and over again — and that insensitive Bob still went off without her.

Jim Marquardt's so mad at Herb Caen he's about ready to sue him for defamation of character or something. It happened this way: Somebody got stuck in Doud Arcade Building's elevator February 23 and started shouting and banging and carrying on until Whitney's called the fire department. Fire department called Jim. Jim went over but by the time he got there, it was all over and everybody'd gone back to work.

How Mr. Caen got hold of this nobody knows but whoever gave it to him, gave it to him wrong and Jim would like to get his hands on that guy, too. Because Caen made a big drama out of it with Jim Marquardt (the only person in Carmel who can fix the elevator) as the one caught inside. It was a darn good story, Jim says. Just a cotton picking, dirty thieving, yellow bellied lie, is all.

By the way, anybody know who did get stuck in the elevator?

I got an enlargement back from the drugstore the other day and had to slit my way through five layers of wrapping before I could clamp my eyes on it.

The enlargement's envelope was inside the color developer's envelope which was inside the regular developer's envelope which was inside the pick-up agency's envelope which was inside the drugstore's envelope. And then I almost didn't find the fool thing when I got home because I'd gone shopping at Safeway afterwards and dropped it inside the grapefruit bag and it was inside the produce bag which was you know?

Boy, if the government would take over the paper bag industry in this country, we'd be out of debt in a week. In rural Mexico when you ask for a little sack to carry your frijoles home in, they look at you like you'd lost your mind? "What's the matter?" they sneer, "Didn't you wash your hands?"

When Tim McCarthy moved to Carmel he settled temporarily at Carmel Cottages while looking for a house. He took his time about it and meanwhile, Tim, Jr., who cannot bear to be separated from his experiments, rented a shed nearby. He's mutating amino acids or something mysterious like that.

Big Tim found a suitable place finally but Little Tim couldn't leave just then because the acids were at the height of extraction and the slightest move might mess up the whole shooting match. Tim, Sr., doesn't really care where he lives when you come right down to it and for thirteen year old Tim, nothing exists these days but his research. So they stayed on.

That was a year ago and I guess they'll just keep on staying on. They call that motel A Little Bit of Heaven but for young Tim, it's out of this world.

At a recent meeting of the Inga Britt Morning Club for Girls of Girth, they were raving over the new hairdo of one of the members. It was so shiny and chic and lovely. Connie, the cute little redhead who manages the salon, said, "Really, Mrs. C., your hair looks too good to be true." "How right you are, my dear," said Mrs. C., "It's my new wig."

That Connie! Have you seen her? She has the most beautiful figure I ever saw. Really, it's almost too good to be—hmmm! you don't suppose? Oh, but that's impossible.

There is a rumor going around among elementary schools that parents are not very bright. Especially when it comes to sets and multiplicants and Quisenaire rods and keen, easy stuff like that. So Mrs. Lucy Foster has come to our rescue. Last Monday night she started a class in New Math for parents. We'd like to have our children not regard us with that pitying, patient look any longer, so we went.

Mrs. Foster teaches it to us the same way she teaches her second graders, having us pretend we're Stone Age people. This is kind of fun, all right, but I just can't seem to get the hang of it.

A herd of buffalo comes down river and I grab me some. I want to brag about it to the fellow in the cave next door and I holler, "Hey, guess how many buffalo I shot." He looks dumb, so I tell him, "Man, I got 2 huge bulls and 3 nice, fat cows!" He still looks dumb. For crying out loud, I think, what does it take to impress this dodo?

But, you see, that's not what the trouble is. I'm saying it wrong.

We're cave dwellers, you big jerk. Where'd you get all those words and numbers? They haven't even been invented yet. You don't even know you're a man. What you're supposed to say—in sand drawing, yet—is "Me knock down this many pebbles of something that looked like this."

I'll never make it to third, I just know it. Second grade's far too advanced for a 40 year old. Besides, you can't get in and out of the crazy seats!

Gretchen Gray reports from San Francisco that there are no ladies' rest rooms in the Opera House. She obtained this information from a small friend whom she took to the ballet. At intermission Gretchen suggested the little girl go to the ladies' room and in no time the child was back. "No ladies' room?" Gretchen asked incredulously. "Nope. Just refreshment stands."

Mary Poppins Coming To Steinbeck Theatre Starting April 9

Walt Disney's great hit movie "Mary Poppins" opens for an exclusive extended Monterey Peninsula run Friday, April 9, at the Steinbeck Theater, it was announced today.

The date of presentation is timed for the Easter vacation period. Special week-day and weekend matinees have been scheduled.

The film brings one of literatures most beloved and delightful heroines, "Mary Poppins" from the printed page to an unforgettable living, breathing personality through the motion picture magic of master story-teller Walt Disney.

Disney first became aware of the delightful Mary Poppins about 15 years ago, when one of his daughters introduced him to the magical nursemaid. Her enthusiasm for the books prompted his reading them and he too saw their potential as material for a motion picture.

Upon learning that film rights were unobtainable, he temporarily abandoned the idea. Then, several years ago, the paths of Disney and the English author, Mrs. P. L. Travers, happened to cross in London. They discussed the possibility of his bringing "Mary Poppins" to the screen and she, cognizant of the producer's integrity and artistic endeavors agreed to relinquish the flim rights if his approach to the stories met with her approval.

On Disney's return to the studio, the project was set in motion and several months later, Mrs. Travers was invited to Burbank for story conferences. Elated with the treatment her heroine was receiving, the author signed the formal contracts.

The screenplay was put into the capable hands of two of Disney's top writers, Bill Walsh and Don DaGradi. Direction is by Robert Stevenson, who in the past had directed such Disney successes as "Ol' Yaller," "The Absent Minded Professor," "Son of Flubber" and "In Search of the Castaways."

The film has been playing to full houses in Los Angeles and other large cities. Now it comes to the Steinbeck April 9, so there is no necessity for Peninsula residents to travel elsewhere to see the production.

Shaw Comedy Opens At Circle Theatre

Tomorrow night's opening of "Caesar and Cleopatra" at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre will feature two comparative newcomers in starring roles. C. Winter VanHorn, Carmel Valley physician who made his local debut last autumn in "The Tempest," plays Julius Caesar in Bernard Shaw's comedy, while the role of Cleopatra goes to MPC freshman Cheri Howell. They will be supported by a group of experienced character actors well known on the Circle stage.

Sam Matar, Dick Bird, Nick Zanides, Ron Martin and Frederick Rider play a quintet of Shaw's sharply etched individuals, a romantic artist, a stuffy Briton, a gruff warrior, a pompous statesman and a crafty intellectual, all caught in the hurly-burly of the Roman occupation of Alexandria in the fourth decade B.C. Cleopatra's savage nurse, Ftatateeta, will be played by Loel Shuler.

Terry Poland, Reed Putnam, Jim Genone and Brian Casiday are members of the Roman camp. Wayne Kendall, Rick Nieto, Harold Johnson, Barbara Shuler, Judy Medany and Sally Reichard play Alexandrians. Tim Dahlberg has the role of Ptolemy, Cleopatra's ten-year-old brother and, by royal Egyptian custom, her husband as well.

Rick Beck-Meyer's handsome unit setting represents five separate locations in and around Alexandria, from the paws of a Sphinx to the top of the famous lighthouse overlooking the harbor. Costumes have been created by Jean Cahill, properties by Lucy Page, lighting by Reed Putnam, and sound by Charles Richmond, Jr.

The production is under the direction of Rosamond Goodrich.

"Caesar and Cleopatra" will play for seven consecutive weekends on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 8:30.

Betty Fowlston And Ruth McElroy Again Provide Audience At Studio Theatre With Pixilated Comedy

BY LLOYD JENKINS

Director Michael Keller, of the Studio Restaurant and Theatre previewed, "Farewell, Farewell Eugene" last Friday amid laughter and applause from an appreciative audience. The enthusiasm was duly generated by the "pixilated" sister team of Betty Fowlston, as the religiously prim Gertrude Povis, and Ruth McElroy as the zany, backsliding Minerva Goody (nee Povis). Though this stage fare is more serial than play, the audience and this reviewer chuckled through the 'nostalgia pie' with little thought to dramatic import. When a director has this delightful twosome available he reaches even into the archives for a suitable vehicle regardless of antiquity. Seems the sequences are meant to be a play but continuity is lacking, so it appears as a laughable exercise for talented performers. This piece, molded by John Vari and Rodney Ackland, is laid in the 30's in a neatly conceived lower flat, functionally executed by set designer Ruth Jordan Allan to serve the action smoothly.

Plot? Well, it seems the long disassociated brother, Eugene, in far-off Africa derives support by sponging off his spinster sisters whose income consists solely from their hand-made greeting card business. The sisters work diligently toward the day that they may journey to Africa to succor 'poor lonely Eugene' rather than provide the pitance for 'medicinal spirits' to allay the ills of his particular area of the world.

A niece, Peonie, coyly played by Edith Karas is verging on merging with the brash, oaf-like Chuck Bailey whom Sam Karas plays to comedic perfection. The situation is humorous for the not-so-young lovers who seem to need the blessing and all-powerful sanctity of Auntie Gertrude Povis.

A foundling is left aboard the front steps of the Povis "girls" to further complicate plot or introduce Miss Harmon as the welfare worker contingent, aptly portrayed by Ruth Anderson. The upstairs interlopers provide Rod Allison as Mr. Reardon, and Rachel Karas as Flossie Reardon, both ably conceived to break the poignant spells with Christmas Carols and periodic announcements.

All in all, producers Betty Hackett and Royden Martin have concocted an enlightening piece for after-dinner fare. Dinner, by the way, is served prior to showtime at 6:30-7:30. Henceforth, "Farewell, Farewell Eugene" will present on Friday, Saturday and Sunday at 8:30 p.m. This reviewer urges you to relax and enjoy the whole farce.

Christian Science Lecturer Says Change Of Thinking Advisable

A little girl was finding it hard to stop snitching cookies. "You know it's wrong to take cookies," said her mother. "Don't you know what it means to repent?" The child thought for a moment, then answered, "Yes, mommy, I know what it means—to be sorry enough to quit."

In one way or another, this story applies to everybody, said Roy J. Linnig in a Christian Science lecture here on Thursday evening. He was introduced to the audience by Raymond D. McGill.

"A mature view of repentance includes being sorry enough to quit," he said—but "to realize its full possibilities our repentance must be radical. It must be at the deepest spiritual level . . . the kind of change Christ Jesus demanded when he said, 'Repent: for the kingdom of heaven is at hand'" (Matt. 4).

The lecturer noted that "the word in the Gospel here translated 'repent' literally means to change one's mind. Jesus was saying to his listeners: Change your minds; change your basis of thinking; change the way you think. This is the only kind of repentance that can satisfy the human heart's endless 'longing' to be good," he said.

Mr. Linnig, a Christian Science practitioner from Chicago, is currently on tour as a member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. His public appearance here was sponsored by First Church of Christ, Scientist, Carmel, and he spoke in the church edifice.

Repentance is actually a liberating process, Mr. Linnig emphasized. It "doesn't bind and narrow life; it releases and expands our whole sense of things."

He compared it to the great advances made by physicists after they "changed their views radically" and abandoned many Newtonian concepts and methods in order to accommodate Einstein's theories.

On a deeper level, he said, the same liberation comes to a person's whole concept of life whenever he responds to "the proddings of Christ."

The Apostle Paul was an outstanding example, noted the lecturer. "His radical change of thought and conduct illustrates genuine repentance." He had felt the touch of the "Christ in you" (Col. 1) — "the pure consciousness of divine Love which by its very presence annihilates sin."

How much repentance does a person need? Mr. Linnig's answer was that "as long as we see or experience evil, the need to change our way of thinking is clear.

"Evil is whatever claims to oppose God, good. It's whatever claims power to degrade men and make them sinful, sick, dying . . . One name for these counterfeit thoughts is 'suggestions' their nature is hypnotic. They would influence us to accept lies as truths, as our very own thoughts —and as a result to act contrary to our natural goodness . . . Thought is fixed on the material body and material things. It induces egotism, human vanity.

"Appetite for strong drink, tobacco, pep pills, or any stimulant, . . . depression, grief, a feeling of 'what's the use,' all these come from material thinking," he said, adding that they belong to what Paul called "the carnal mind."

"It may require a struggle to destroy these suggestions," he said but "we should be willing to face this struggle. Everything worth doing requires work. God's requirement waits neither on our convenience nor our comfort. It's imperative and for our good. The purpose of prayer isn't to induce God to satisfy our wishes. It's to bring our thoughts and actions into conformity with His will."

He quoted the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy: "Prayer can neither change God, nor bring His designs into mortal modes; but it can and does change our modes and our false sense of Life, Love, and Truth, uplifting us to Him" (No and Yes, p. 39).

This change can actually destroy sickness as well as sin, he declared, and related several cases of such healing—including that of a woman who recovered completely from a broken hip through subjection to the "action of Christ."

"He who repents, who changes his thinking, bursts the bonds of earth and knows God and his own perfect sonship," said the lecturer. He has one Mind, one God. He doesn't stop at one instance of change . . . He heaps change upon change to the glory of God," and thus moves towards his destiny.

"Man's eternal destiny," said Mr. Linnig, "is to express or reflect God's changeless goodness in all that he is and does—much as the reflection of a mountain in a quiet lake repeats the majesty of the mountain. Each pure motive is an expression of God. Each pure motive and act indicates a measure, however small, of true repentance."

St. Patrick's Day Tourney

The large field expected to be on hand for the second annual Saint Patrick's Day Monterey Peninsula "Championship of Ireland" golf tournament at Del Monte Golf Course will probably praise or blame the leprechauns for birdies or bogeys and near misses. However, all entrants will receive a good measure of fine Irish hospitality, largely dispensed by Gene O'Lambert as luncheon host in the Grill on March 17.

Hosts for the tournament are those friendly Irishmen, Nick Lombardo, head pro at Del Monte, and Don Fry, head pro at Pacific Grove. Dr. Gerry Martin will serve as chairman, assisted by Walter Schulken. The tournament is for the benefit of the building fund for Saint Jude's Catholic Church in Marina. Father Jeremiah O'Sullivan of Marina, a true son of Ireland and a pretty fair golfer besides, will help spread the Saint Patrick's Day golf fever among the golfers teeing off by handing out sprigs of Shamrock flown direct from Shannon.

Victors will receive prizes, the vanquished will be consoled, and everyone will be entertained as Saint Patrick's Day comes to a festive close with a dinner-dance at 7:30 p.m. at the Mark Thomas Inn.

Entrance donations of $15 and registrations for the "Championship of Ireland" should be addressed to St. Jude's Church Building Fund, Box 426, Marina. Donations include green fees, lunch and the dinner-dance. Non-golfers desiring to attend the dinner-dance only should make reservations through the same address, with a donation of $15 a couple. Registrations and reservations must be received no later than Saturday, March 13.

Gay Antoncich Engaged

August 28 has been chosen as the date for the wedding of John Conroy and Gay Antoncich, whose engagement was announced this week by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Antoncich of Carmel Valley. John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Conroy of Alhambra.

Gay, a Carmel High School graduate, will receive her diploma in June from the University of California at Santa Barbara, as will her fiance.

Gay has two brothers, Mike and Steve, and a sister, Franci Antoncich.

COMMUNITY CHURCH IN NEW LOCATION

The Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula will hold services at Carmel River School beginning this Sunday. The non-denominational congregation will place strong emphasis on family worship and an expanded program for youth, and will observe Children's Sunday this week, permitting all children to worship with their parents at the 11 a.m. service.

The nursery, including care for children through the fourth grade, will be open from 9:30 to 12:30 to accommodate parents who wish to attend the adult seminar at 9:45 a.m.

Classes for those from kindergarten through high school age will be conducted each week from 9:45 to 10:45. The adult seminar will be led by Ernest S. Crosby, author of a recently published book, "Reformation and the Reformers."

NEW TAPROOM FOR DEL MONTE LODGE

Three guest rooms on the ground floor at Del Monte Lodge are being converted into a new taproom which should prove a special attraction to golfers. Spike-proof carpeting will be used throughout, enabling them to stop as they finish the 18th hole without having to change shoes. The attractive glass walled bar and dining area, with a spectacular view over the links and Carmel Bay, is scheduled for mid-May completion. The new facility will feature a light menu for breakfast, luncheon and snacks and will have an area for a combo and dancing in the evening.

Another addition, replacing the present President's House, is a new guest room unit on which construction was begun early last month.

A NEW GUIDE FOR BUSY GOURMETS

The reader won't find marshmallow castles on aspic in a "World of Parties," but he will find a treasure of exotic recipes easily prepared by beginners or accomplished chefs. Mrs. Phyllis Jervey, author of the book recently published by Charles E. Tuttle, Inc., has compiled a valuable guide for the busy gourmet in the form of nineteen international menus, followed by complete recipes, ideas for decoration and atmosphere, and even costume suggestions for parties.

Browsing through this tastefully designed book is a mouthwatering experience and a special inspiration to timid cooks who dare only to dream of serving exciting foreign menus. An idea of the flavor of Mrs. Jervey's book may be gleaned from some of the title chapters — "Spanish Gypsy Outing," "India's Cool Curries," "Mexican Patio Fiestas," "Japanese Hibachi Hospitality," "North African Banquet."

The Carmel author's book is one of fourteen, selected out of 200 cookbooks published this year, for use in the New York City secondary schools, adding another honor to her already impressive list of culinary-writing accomplishments. Mrs. Jervey is the author also of Spice and Rice, and of many articles on cookery and decoration in Vogue, House and Garden, Good Housekeeping and Better Homes and Gardens. For almost ten years she has been the food and party editor for the magazine U.S. Lady.

DR. MURRAY BANKS ON MONDAY PROGRAM

"What To Do Until the Psychiatrist Comes," is the title of a talk to be given by Dr. Murray Banks at the Carmel Woman's Club on Monday at 2 p.m. Dr. Banks' lectures are amusing, always thought-provoking, and never fail to leave his audiences happier as well as inspired.

The popular speaker, a graduate of New York and Columbia Universities, did his work in clinical psycho-pathology at Bellevue Hospital in New York City.

Mrs. William A. Sumner, hospitality chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Ernest G. Friez, Mrs. Leonard Steinmetz, Mrs. W. O. Concolino, Sr., and Mrs. Francis Ewing. The tea tables will be presided over by Mrs. Samuel Moore, Mrs. William McC. Chapman, Mrs. Greene Erskine and Mrs. A. C. Wachsmuth.

Cub Scout Awards

A highlight for Cub Scouts of Pack 48 at their annual Blue and Gold dinner for fathers and sons on February 17 was the announcement of individual awards. In Den Three, John Criddle received the gold arrow and the silver arrow for his Bear Book; Lion Books were given to Greg Ambrosia, Stan Canham and George Bucquet. In Den Two, there was a golden arrow for the Bear Book of John Cherry; a golden arrow for Cyrus Colburn's Wolf Book; and Kimball Banker received his Bear Badge. In Den One, Jim Mallette was awarded a Bear badge; John O'Shea and Mike Wallace, Wolf badges; Derek Appleton, Denner badge; and John Burke, assistant Denner badge. David Wiesenfeld, of Den Five, received a one-year pin.

Guest speaker for the evening was Dan Yurkovich, Carmel Junior High principal; Scout Master Ray Baumann gave a talk on the history of scouting and noted some of the achievements made during the 55 years since the Boy Scouts were organized.

Attend Ballet Folklorico

The Ballet Folklorico de Mexico opened Saturday night in San Francisco's Opera House before an enthusiastic, standing-room-only audience, and in the throng were a number of Carmelites. Glimpsed during intermission were Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Dutton, Mrs. Webster Street and Deborah Street, Mrs. Sarah Elber, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Elber, Miss Lupe Polanco, Mr. and Mrs. Miguel Escontria, Mrs. Martha Trant and Robert Robles.

Dr. Milton Chernin Speaker

Dr. Milton Chernin, Dean of the School of Social Welfare at the University of California at Berkeley, will be the featured speaker on Saturday for the 12th Congressional District "Issues Conference," as announced earlier by the Carmel Women's Democratic Club. Dr. Chernin will address the luncheon meeting at the Casa Munras on "Implementation of the Economic Opportunity Act," and will also present a summary of the preceding group discussions.

Those who have not already made reservations for the noon meeting are urged to phone Mrs. Robert Bussinger (659-4145).

Corvette For A Scoutmaster

One lucky Boy Scout Troop Leader will receive a new Chevrolet Corvette Stingray next week as the prize for having the best attendance record of his adult troop leaders and committee at the monthly Roundtable. The event will take place on Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Seaside High School. According to Peninsula District Scout Commissioner Richard DuBrau, the winning Scoutmaster will have his choice of both model and color.

"Packin' In" will be the evening's theme, and discussion leaders Roy Edwards and George Teele promise an enlightening program of plans and demonstrations for the coming Spring Camporee which will be held at Fort Ord April 23-25.

Carmel Foundation Activities

"Baroness on the Battlefield," edited and translated by Marvin L. Brown, will be the subject of a talk by Mrs. S. H. Kalmback at the Carmel Foundation Town House on Sunday at 2 p.m. Tea will be served after the program.

Next Wednesday the annual meeting of the Foundation will be held at the Parish Hall of All Saints' Episcopal Church at 2:30 p.m., and there will be a tea at the Town House following adjournment of the meeting. According to Mrs. Fred Glascock, president, this and other meetings are open to everyone.

Currently showing until March 12 at the Town House is an exhibit of woodcarving, painting, stitchery, knitting and rugmaking, all articles having been made by the student members of the Foundation. This will be followed by a conservation exhibit by the Monterey Peninsula Garden Club.

MPVS Aids Children

Proceeds from sales at the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services Thrift Shop during the month of March will be donated to the Children's Home Society. To help swell the contribution to this worthy cause, members of the organization are urging everyone to visit the Thrift Shop, 785 Broadway in Seaside, to take advantage of the excellent bargains to be found there.

A business meeting of the MPVS will be held tomorrow at the Monterey U.S.O. at 10:30 a.m., preceded by the serving of coffee at 10 a.m.

At Sea With The Navy

Donn M. Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Thompson, is now serving aboard the USS Bexar in the South China Sea area where the attack transport is operating with the Ready Amphibious Force, Commander U.S. Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific. Donn, a Fire Control Technician Seaman, is a Carmel High School graduate and attended Monterey Peninsula College before entering the Navy. His brother, Gary, is a senior at Carmel High.

Seaman Apprentice William T. Hicks, USCG, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude A. Hicks, is on a training cruise off the Pacific Coast aboard the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Dexter. In the course of underway training for reservists, the cutter cruises to various ports of the Western United States, plus Hawaii, Alaska, Mexico and Canada.

Girl Scouts Celebrate

The observance of Girl Scout Week begins on Sunday, and more than 6,100 girls and 1,500 adult volunteers of the Monterey Bay Girl Scout Council will join with Girl Scouts throughout the country in celebrating the 53rd birthday of the organization on March 12. This year they are focusing attention on the "bridges" which give continuity to their program, adapting activities related to the arts, the home, and the out-of-doors, to the changing interests and needs of girls ages seven through seventeen. "Bridging" the four age levels are the Brownies (seven and eight) to senior Girl Scouts (fifteen through seventeen).

As a part of local activities this year, the Cadet Troops are coordinating and setting up a display, representative of all the other troops, which will be on view in a window of the M. Raggett shop on Ocean Avenue starting Monday.

The Sur Coast

By ELIZABETH FULLER JONES

PLANT TREES AT CAPTAIN COOPER SCHOOL

Arbor Day (a day set aside in most states in late April or early May for the planting of trees and shrubs) hasn't arrived, according to the calendar, but it might as well have been last Saturday, as far as the community of Big Sur was concerned, for gathered together were an enthusiastic, capable and happy group of men, women and children, who had come together for the express purpose of planting "trees and shrubs." The meeting place was on the beautifully situated grounds of the Captain Cooper Elementary School on the high plateau overlooking the Sur Valley and upward to the lovely Santa Lucia Mountains.

The week before word had gone out to the school children, their parents, friends of the school, and in general, residents of the area that February 27 would be a special day for landscaping and planting of various sections of the school grounds.

Before the agreed upon hour of 10:00 a.m., plants and shrubs were at the site and a number of people busily engaged in digging holes, trenches, etc. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Hans Ewoldsen, who through their generosity and interest in the school had, during the past months, been preparing for this rewarding day by growing and boxing many of the trees and shrubs that were now ready for permanently planting. Previously a master landscaping plan was worked out by Mrs. Ewoldsen with careful attention being given to selection of plants that were indigenous to area, ones that would withstand wind, cold, sea air and a period of summer drought. Among the plants thus provided were madrone, oak, redwood, Monterey Pine, loquat, privet hedge and native lilac. These loving contributions were augmented by the purchase of several dozen, two-feet high Monterey Cypress. (More of the Cypress are desired. Any readers who would like to make a contribution of Monterey Cypress trees, would find their gift most gratefully received).

Despite an early morning overcast, and threat of rain, everyone worked with joyous determination and by noon, loquat lane had been planted, a row of Monterey Cypress set out along the front walk and entrance drive, several dozen Monterey Pine put in place along a high barren bank at the far side of the play field, another row of Cypress along the fence at the end of the play field, a privet hedge planted to define the eating area, ice plant and lilac, all placed according to plan.

The writer would not know where to begin or end the list of the willing individuals that gave of their talents and time (and all shared in the delicious and abundant pot luck lunch that followed the hours of loving labor) but very much a part of the productive day were school principal Mrs. Rowena Kelly; teacher Conrad Selvig; Ted Bergquist, whose name is practically synonymous with Captain Cooper School for the many tasks that he does so efficiently and joyously; president of the Parents Club, Mrs. Norma Harnett; and the ubiquitous Frank Trotter who has through the years consistently helped with the building and refurbishing needs of schools along the Sur Coast.

WORD FROM SOUTHERN RHODESIA

"I am working on a tobacco plantation in Southern Rhodesia." This is the most recent word Mrs. Stephen L. McCann of Rocky Creek (frequently referred to as "Upper Palo Colorado Canyon") has received from her son Cary Levy who left California more than twelve months ago.

Twenty-one year old Levy "signed on" as a one man crew on the "Borachita," a thirty foot sail boat, built by his uncle, Edward Dreis of Santa Cruz. With Dreis as captain, and Levy as crew, the two men set sail for a trip around the world.

At one point during their travels, and after leaving Singapore, they were forty-four days without seeing land. During this time they ran out of food and lived on only a small portion of rice, and tuna that they were able to catch. Then, when half-way across the Indian Ocean, they broke a rudder but finally made port at the Seychelles Island off the northeast coast of Africa. It was while there, in port at the capital city of Victoria, that they saw and visited with members of the crew of the TeVega which was in port at the same time.

After their ordeal at sea, Levy and Dreis, decided to part company. It was at this point that a stranger to Carl Levy became his friend and sponsored him so that he could enter Southern Rhodesia and obtain a work permit, for his present occupation on the tobacco plantation. Edward Dreis (who in recent months made a dramatic sea rescue of a fellow Santa Cruzan, half-way around the world) took on a crew at Victoria, and is now enroute to South African ports.

Carl Levy is a graduate of Pacific Grove High School and after completing an enlistment in the U.S. Navy, began his adventure of seeing the world by means of work combined with travel. His sister, Ann Levy, is associated with the Recreation Department of the City of San Carlos. Carl's and Ann's mother, Mrs. Stephen L. McCann and Mr. McCann are owners of Coast Hardware Store in Pacific Grove.

Business Firms Gain In Peninsula Area

The city of Carmel has gained a 29.7 percentage increase in number of businesses listed since 1954, according to a report released today by Dun & Bradstreet.

With 222 listings in November, 1954, the same period in 1964 gave 288 business listings for Carmel. The reference book lists only manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, and some service companies, such as gasoline service stations and laundries. It does not include all professional and service businesses such as barber and beauty shops, real estate and stock brokers.

Monterey County as a whole showed 17.7 percent increase, with only Soledad, Greenfield and Gonzales showing decreases. Monterey City showed 11.8 gain; Seaside Carmel Valley 78.5; Salinas 12.4 on the increase listings.

Safeway Champions Customer Values

Safeway Stores, Incorporated, today announced that effective immediately all its Mrs. Wright's and Skylark Breads have been increased in weight but not in price.

In making the announcement, Gus H. Parker, San Francisco Division Manager, said that the larger sizes are the result of Safeway's belief that its customers have a right to expect a standard loaf of bread to weigh a pound and a large loaf to weigh a pound and a half.

Present California law requires a standard loaf of bread to be labeled, "Standard loaf, minimum net weight 15 oz.", or a large loaf to be labeled, "Standard large loaf, minimum net weight 1 lb. 6½ oz." Safeway's loaves will meet these legal requirements but its standard loaf will weigh one full pound and its large loaf will weigh a full one and one-half pounds.

The new packaging will have large labels at both ends of the loaves clearly indicating the correct net weights, Parker stated.

Entries Invited For Concours d'Elegance

Entry blanks are in the mail for the 15th Annual Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance to be held Saturday, April 17, at Del Monte Lodge, Pebble Beach.

A large entry of vintage, classic and modern cars, both American and European, will be judged by a panel of qualified judges on the lawn between the 18th green of the famous Pebble Beach Golf Links and Del Monte Lodge, one of the most beautiful settings in the world.

The Peninsula Community Hospital Auxiliary will benefit from the $1.00 spectator's donation. Entry blanks may be had by writing to: Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance, Pebble Beach, California.

Test For Peace Corps March 13 In This Area

Monterey Bay area residents interested in joining the Peace Corps, will have an opportunity to test their aptitudes on Saturday, March 13, commencing at 8:30 a.m. at three locations in the area.

The opportunity is the Peace Corps Placement Test, and is not an examination which can be passed or failed, but simply to indicate in what field the applicant's greatest potential lies. There is a questionnaire which must be filled out and brought to the test location, unless this has been previously submitted, telling what the applicant has done in the past. The test will show what he or she can do in the future. The questionnaire may be obtained at all U.S. Post Offices.

Test locations are as follows: Monterey, Room 6, U.S. Post Office Building, 565 Hartnell Street; Salinas, Room 222, West Wing, Federal Building, 100 West Alisal Street; Santa Cruz, Room 5, Post Office, Pacific and Water Streets.

21 Students Attending Hospital Seminar

Selected to attend the Seminar in Medicine at the Monterey Peninsula Community Hospital, 21 Peninsula 10th grade students will attend five sessions, March 3, 10, 17, 24, and 31, with Robert L. Black, M.D. coordinator in charge. Mrs. Margaret C. Stebbins of Carmel, is seminar chairman. Dr. Black will also act as moderator.

The purpose of the seminar, according to the program, is to provide opportunity for the students to relate their scientific knowledge to the field of medicine, and to inspire and motivate them to think more deeply about all medical science. It was further stated that the students are not necessarily considering a career in medicine.

The science students chosen are as follows: Carmel High School—Martha Crow, Anne Foster, Roberta Goulding, Carole Kiler, Brian McManus, and Shelley Rayne; Monterey High School—J. Anderson, Ruth Ann Kohan, Myra Lee, and Ann Morikawa; Seaside High School — Walter Imagawa, Marjorie Moy, David Oyler, and Sandra Phillips; Pacific Grove High School — Gwen Bennett; Junipero Memorial—Anne Elizabeth O'Halloran, and Ronald Renard; Robert Louis Steven — Stephen Barlow and Larry Cunningham; York School — James Holmes and Robert Williams.

Seminar speakers will be Dr. Richard Frazier, Monterey County's assistant public health officer; Osman Hull, M.D., Jack Daniels, M.D., Richard Murtland, M.D., John Lord, M.D., Gerard Martin, M.D., and James Rasband, M.D. Students are expected to participate in discussions at each session.

Little League Registration

All boys ages eight through 12 who want to play in the Carmel Little League, must register either Tuesday or Wednesday of next week, between the hours of 7 and 9 p.m. at the Carmel Junior High School cafeteria. Boys attending Sunset, River, Woods, Junipero Serra, Palo Colorado, Captain Cooper, and Robert Louis Stevenson are eligible.

Ernest Fischbein is president of the Carmel Little League, P.O. Box 194, Carmel.

James H. Parks

Private funeral services for James Herbert Parks were held at Mission Mortuary late Monday, following his death earlier that day in a local hospital after a brief illness.

With his wife, Pauline, Mr. Parks had made his home in Carmel for thirteen years. He was born in Ontario, Canada, on October 13, 1888.

Mr. Parks was associated with the McKesson Robbins Drug Company for many years, and at the time of his retirement in 1954 was its regional vice president in charge of the Pacific Coast area.

Friends wishing to make contributions in the memory of Mr. Parks may do so to the Community Hospital, Box HH, Carmel.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

This is cook book week at the library. We have four new cook books, all specialized, and all good. The first one is little more than a pamphlet, having but 109 pages. It is a compilation of recipes for cooking over a campfire and it is called A CAMPING COOK BOOK OF SAVORY EASY-TO-PREPARE MEALS. Margaret MacArthur did the collecting of the recipes and she included in her book several excellent lists and suggestions for the camper.

Next we have two books of special interest, both of which are blessed with color photographs of appetizing viands which are so beautiful they may cause your own less beautiful concoctions to give you culinary heart break. One is COOK CHINESE by Nancy Ma and the other is COOK JAPANESE by Masaru Doi. Pages of both books are heavy slick paper, bindings are metal spirals, and recipes are simple and easy to prepare. Many are fried in deep fat, so watch your waistline.

It is quite probable that we should never have purchased our last cook book, mainly because of the price. It is especially for those with a bit of French in their vocabularies because even with translations everywhere, there is a lot of French. It was written by Mapie, the Countess of Toulouse-Lautrec and it is called La Cuisine de France. This is a big book, without illustrations, but containing 1500 recipes and two indexes, the one in English and the other in French. The author says they are all recipes for delightful dishes which are so simple that even a beginning cook can prepare them. The cook who wishes to be really prepared in this business should also provide herself with a dictionary—English type—for helping her assemble the various ingredients the names of which have not been translated. Some of these may be difficult to locate. One recipe we noticed called for ortolan, and a quick checking told us this was a bobolink, a fowl seldom cooked in this country. So check availability before you start cooking.

Her Imperial Highness, Princess Soraya, has written her autobiography and called it SORAYA. She writes frankly and with dignity. Readers who snatch up every biography of a famous person because they are hoping for inside stuff will be disappointed here. Soraya is more than an Imperial Highness. She is a lady.

Louis Mac Neice has a book on ASTROLOGY, which must indeed tell all there is to know on the subject. After reading this book you will be able to work out your own horoscope, which should be preferred to paying for a printed one which was mass-produced for the trade.

Mr. and Mrs. Murakami Upton begin their introduction to A SPECTATOR'S HANDBOOK OF NOH by saying "Noh is the oldest living dramatic form in the world . . . The purpose of Noh is neither the portraying of a story nor the teaching of a moral, but simply the expression of beauty." This small book contains many summaries of Noh plays as well as pictures of the stage, the masks worn by the players, and much information on the structure of a Noh play.

There are some new novels this week and many another choice piece of non-fiction. Consult the listing on the bulletin board, as usual.

MPC Announces Future Film Listing

A complete listing of films to be shown this Spring, by the Theater Arts Group at Monterey Peninsula College has been released by the MPC Evening Division Office.

The schedule, which was omitted from the spring brochure, will include: "Rosemary," a German film done in the style of "Threepenny Opera," and "Soap Bubbles," a French short, March 19; "Poil de Carotte," Julian Duvivier's masterpiece of childhood, and "Moonbird," a 16 mm. sound color animation, April 9; and "Knife in the Water," a recent Polish hit, and "The Pusher," a Yugoslavian short, May 14.

There will be both a 7 and 9 p.m. screening of each film in the MPC Music Hall. Free tickets may be obtained at the college from two weeks preceding a showing.

A summer series featuring American classics has also been planned. Scheduled are the Marx Brothers' "Night at the Opera," and "Day Dreams," a short, June 25; "Double Life," a neglected Ronald Coleman performance of the Othello theme, and "The Moor's Pavane," a short, July 9; "Grand Hotel," with Barrymore and Garbo, and "The Interview," a color short, July 18; and "Midsummer Night's Dream" and "Skyscraper," a short, July 23.

Bach To Mozart Group In Benefit Concert

The Bach to Mozart Players will perform at a benefit concert at Cabrillo College Theater in Aptos Sunday afternoon, March 21. The Cabrillo Guild of Music is presenting the group in order to raise funds for the Cabrillo Music Festival, which is held at the college the last two weeks in August.

The group is comprised of Carole Bogarde, vocal, soloist; Ellen Dessler, cellist; Raymond Duste, oboist; Margaret Fabrizio, harpsichordist; Edward Haug, trumpeter; Frank Houser, violinist; Edgar Jones, vocal soloist. These seven Bay area musicians, all soloists in their own right formed the group in 1959 with the purpose of performing intimate chamber music, chiefly from the period of Bach through Mozart, but with occasional ventures into the Renaissance and contemporary periods.

The concert at Cabrillo College starts at 2:30 p.m. and is open to the public. There is a reception immediately following the performance at Shadowbrook in Capitola, and all ticket holders are invited to attend it also. Donation is $2.50. Tickets can be obtained by remitting donation to Cabrillo Guild of Music, 6500 Soquel Drive, Aptos, or phone orders 475-6000.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunt

Funeral services are being held today at All Saints' Episcopal Church for Mr. and Mrs. Leonard William Hunt, who were killed Sunday in an automobile accident on Highway 101 south of Gilroy. The Corvallis, Oregon couple was en route to make a home in Carmel near a daughter, Mrs. Robert E. Bush.

Mr. Hunt, age 69, was a native of Missouri and his wife, Helen Veva Hunt, age 63, was a native of Oregon.

The Reverend David Hill will officiate at the ceremonies, and burial will take place in Cementerio El Encinal, Monterey. The Dorney and Farlinger Memorial Chapel is in charge of arrangements.

Friends wishing to make contributions in the memory of Mr. and Mrs. Hunt may do so to the Central Mission Trails Heart Association, Box 1329, Monterey, or to the York School, care of All Saints' Church.

Open Poetry Contest Offers Cash Prizes

The Palo Alto branch of the National League of American Penwomen announces a poetry contest open to the public, with poems up to 24 lines, any theme, any form, with prizes of $25, $15, and $10. Poems must be original, unpublished, sent in anonymously, postmarked not later than April 30. Winners will be announced June 7.

Entrants are asked to put their name, address, title and first line of poem into a sealed envelope. On the outside put only title and first line. Registration fee is $1, and entries must be mailed to Grace Bowles Hedge, 131 Fern Avenue, Palo Alto, California.

Local Seniors Named For National Honors

Among 14,000 high school students from all over the United States who have been named finalists in the National Merit Scholarship Competition, Carmel High School announces the names of Barbara Arnn, Andrew Miller, Clynn Smith,, Erica Steinberger, and Lois Watson.

The finalists who won this distinction represent about one-half of one percent of the secondary seniors in the nation. From this group, 1600 students will be offered Merit Scholarships. Letters of commendation were received from the National Merit Foundation by Janice Broberg, Joan Felder, Eric Danysh, Bruce Goodsell, and Mark Sinclair.

In the Bank of America Achievement Program, selected from Carmel High School to compete for awards up to $1,000, were Eric Danysh in the field of mathematics and science, and Clynn Smith, Liberal Arts. Selected to receive Certificates of Merit in specific fields of study were Lois Watson, mathematics; Lawrence Thompson, laboratory science; David Schetter, music; Mary Shively, art; Erica Steinberger, English; Mark Sinclair, social science; Andrew Miller, foreign language; Sallie Stean, home economics; and Susan Keane, trades and industrial arts.

Master Dance Class At MPC March 9

Daniel Nagrin, dancer, choreographer and teacher, will conduct two master classes in action technique at Monterey Peninsula College Tuesday, March 9.

The classes will be held at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. in the Armory on campus. Interested members of the community are cordially invited to attend, according to Miss Diane Smith of the MPC physical education department.

Participants will be charged $1. Observers and students holding student body cards will be admitted for 50 cents.

Nagrin's approach to dance comes from a wide experience of all theatrical and concert mediums, including the major dance festivals, Broadway, Hollywood and TV.

His technical training included work with Martha Graham, Hanya Holm, and, for many years, with Helen Tamiris. He absorbed the values of the ballet tradition with Madame Anderson-Ivantzova, Nenette Charisse and Leon Fokine.

Mrs. Marie Short

Marie Short, a dynamic part of Carmel for many years, died in a San Francisco hospital on Sunday. She had been under a physician's care since moving to that city two years ago. Death was attributed to a heart attack.

Her home here was an informal "salon" for the great, near-great and the humble, where ideas and enthusiasm were exchanged, where many an artist found encouragement through her perceptive, quicksilver mind. Intensely involved, emotionally and intellectually, in the world about her, she was a catalyst in her role of hostess, and one might meet in her house a lonely soldier chatting with Van Wyck Brooks; an aspiring poet speaking with Langston Hughes or Muriel Rukeyeser; an uncertain painter or sculptor finding faith through discussions with Henry Varnum Poor or a connoisseur of art; and the politically certain and uncertain refreshing their minds with the divergent views of such people as Lincoln Steffens, Ella Winter, or Jack Belden. Witter Bynner, Georges Simenon, Martin Flavin, Mabel Luhan, philanthropist Noel Sullivan were a few of the people who sought her out. She was a colorful, controversial figure, and she will be missed not only for her interest in the arts but for her unequivocal stand on human rights and the dignity of man.

Mrs. Short was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hathaway of San Francisco, where she was born on May 6, 1894. During her youth she spent many summers in Pebble Beach at Canary Cottage, which her father built in 1906. She was divorced in 1940 from the late John Douglas Short, who was for many years the legal adviser at San Quentin and known for his work in the field of civil liberties and welfare of prisoners and as a research worker with the late Dr. Alfred Kinsey. Mrs. Short came to make her home here permanently in 1939.

She is survived by three sons, John Douglas Short, Jr., of Oxford, England; William H. Short of Larkspur; and Erik H. Short of Monterey; a daughter, Mrs. Neil (Kraig) Weston of Carmel Highlands; and eleven grandchildren.

Services for Mrs. Short were held in the Abbey of the Chimes, Vallejo.

Friends wishing to make contributions in her memory may do so to the Community Hospital Fund, Box HH, Carmel.

Art News . . .

An exhibition of drawings by Hilda Pertha, combining black and white felt pen work with oil sketches on paper, will be the feature display at American Federation of Arts headquarters on Lincoln Street, just south of Ocean Avenue, in Carmel, commencing March 15 and continuing through April 10.

This artist has exhibited in Europe, South America and in various parts of the United States. She recently resided in Mendocino County, but left to become affiliated with the Pasadena Art Center, as well as writing a regular column for "WestArt."

Also on exhibition at this time will be jewelry and metal sculpture by artists Guy Granger and Hoyt Scott.

Monterey Peninsula chapter of the American Federation of Arts is getting ready for its annual "Serendipity Auction" which is scheduled for May 2. Public display of the collected articles will precede the auction, beginning April 30.

"What have you that everyone else wants?" asks the Serendipity committee, and the answer is that it is something you have stored away, such as a minor masterpiece or an "obfuscated objet d'art." And these are just exactly what people are donating, plus any other treasure or near-treasure you feel should be shared with the rest of the world. These precious gifts may be delivered to AFA headquarters, or a call to 624-2918 will bring transportation to pick them up, according to the AFA Courier.

GARDENER'S PARADISE PLUS INVESTMENT—At the entrance to Carmel Valley we have a modern, spacious three-bedroom, two-bath home on 1.25 level acres, only a portion of which is now used. The home is landscaped with rare trees, shrubs and lovely perennials. Perfect soil, unlimited well water, 2 greenhouses now used for growing orchids—for hobby and commercially. Our exclusive at $69,500. Potential apartment zoning makes this a good investment if you have a little gambling instinct.

LARGE FAMILY HOME CLOSE TO THE BEACH—Unusual opportunity to buy one of Carmel's fine older spacious homes. Two blocks from the beach and south of Ocean Avenue, with a view of Pescadero Point. Versatile floor plan with seven bedrooms, six and a library, five and a mother-in-law suite, or whatever you want. Dining room, large kitchen with dishwasher, 4½ baths, large basement. This home is substantially built and has been well maintained. Modern heating system. Large rear patio with brick barbecue. Lovely grounds, lots of chalkrock. Our exclusive at $62,500. Broker cooperation.

MONTEREY PENINSULA COUNTRY CLUB — Excellent 3-bedroom 2-bath and dining room home in an established area close to the clubhouse. Well landscaped, sprinkler system, etc. Large workshop. Priced at $33,500.

Learn Now, Pay Later, Gist Of Assembly Bill To Aid Needy Students

Recently introduced in the California State Assembly is a Bill authored by John L. E. Collier, 54th District, which, if enacted, would establish the means whereby anyone, regardless of economic circumstances, could attend a state college or university without paying in advance for his education. The Bill, No. 600, would provide that the student reimburse the State for the cost of his instruction only after he began earning sufficient income to do so.

This unique "Learn, Earn and Pay Later" plan, is designed to take the strain off the State's General Fund and make tax dollars available to local school districts, according to Assemblyman Collier. AB 600 would permit the student, under certain conditions, to defer his tuition payment by signing a note each school term covering the cost of his instruction. Upon leaving college and attaining an annual taxable income of more than $4,000, he would begin to reimburse the State.

This plan, it was pointed out, would reduce the drain on the State General Fund for support of the colleges and universities, for the reason that the State of California faces a financial crisis in meeting its obligation to support our grade schools, high schools and junior colleges; also the University of California should begin to share the instructional cost now being met from the General Fund.

Society as a whole benefits from an educated citizenry, said Assemblyman Collier. California's justly renowned public education system has helped boost the average income of our people to one of the highest in the nation. However, he pointed out, it is the individual receiving the benefits of a state-supported college education who gains most directly through an increase in his lifetime earning power. As a legislator who has served for 18 years on the Assembly Education Committee, Mr. Collier is convinced that some way must be found to solve the problem of increasing state support of public schools without further increasing taxes. The home owner already is overburdened with property taxes to support local schools, and cannot be expected to assume further load, Collier concluded.

Who Remembers?

The perpetual poker game that used to go on in the planting strip crosswalk on Ocean opposite now-vanished Cabbages and Kings? Chuck Fuller, Mort Henderson, Palmer Beaudette and who else?

Dave Nixon and Bill Ammerman with their fight-to-the-death horseshoe pitching on the corner lot of Ocean and San Carlos? And how Bill's little dog used to trot around with a pipe in his mouth?

When Greber's Inn on Monte Verde housed a bar?

The real cool music of Spider McPhillips and his Four Flies at the dances in the Green Room behind the Golden Bough (then the Arts and Crafts Hall)?

Who used to be known, and probably still is, as "Old 90," the number signifying the 90 days ordered you know where?

When many a citizen sheepishly backed down on his resolution to boycott the opening of Carmel's first chain store, Espindolas #10, because they advertised T-bone, prime rib, or sirloin steaks at 25 cents each?

The Old Cabin Tea Room tucked away in the oaks on Lincoln street, and the Mission Tea Room in what is now the home of Mrs. Lloyd Tevis?

When Norman Miller was using part of Stewart field (the Mission tract) for an airplane field. Don't know why he got sore when Bill Machado plowed it up to plant wheat.

When it was so quiet on Ocean avenue you could hear the clicking of the fantastically long fingernails of Vivienne Higginbotham and Iris Alberto as they worked on their looms across the street from Pine Inn?

When a typographical error in a Peninsula paper indicated that "the Misses Monteagle entertained 40 of their fiends at a cocktail party"?

The log-rolling contest at the Abalone field, the brain child of Frank Sheridan? The judges were Tal Josselyn, Charlie van Riper and By Ford, and the trophy was an embroidered ash can.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

"What is man, that thou art mindful of him?" This question asked by the Psalmist is explored in the Bible Lesson which will be featured at Christian Science services Sunday. The subject is "Man."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, these lines will be read: "The human capacities are enlarged and perfected in proportion as humanity gains the true conception of man and God. Mortals have a very imperfect sense of the spiritual man and of the infinite range of his thought" (p. 258).

Park Statue To Remain Where It Is Says City

Recommendations of the City Planning Commission with reference to the statue of Junipero Serra now standing in Devendorf Park, were accepted with modifications by Carmel City Council last night in a session which dragged on until 12:30 this morning.

The wooden statue will remain where it is. Existing ordinances regulate the placing of further memorializations on public propty, but the Council stopped short of going on record as establishing a policy of refusing to consider some such matter in the future. As Councilman Whittlesey put it, somebody might in the future wish to donate $100,000 to the city for the privilege of erecting some memorial, and this might become a matter for serious consideration. It was further brought out that there is no real evidence that the so-called Serra statue might not be that of "some unknown monk."

SCHOLASTIC HONORARIUMS TO CARMEL STUDENTS

Six Carmel residents are among the thirty "top" students at Monterey Peninsula College who have been awarded scholastic honorariums of $50 each by the Associated Students of the college. In announcing the awards, Thomas F. Saake, director of services, pointed out that several other students made grade point averages within the range of the current group (from 3.34 to 4.0) but received no awards because they did not carry the required 15 unit load.

Those who received the honorariums are Athanas W. Lolov, Marjorie S. Otter, Michio Kusama, Scott L. Forbes, Gary P. Silva and Charles R. Carter, Jr.

Miss Monterey County Contestants Invited

Monterey Junior Chamber of Commerce is again sponsoring the Miss Monterey County Pageant, at which young women between the ages of 18 and 25 compete for the Miss Monterey crown, preliminary to entering the Miss California competition at Santa Cruz in June.

Interested young women have been advised that this is not just a bathing beauty contest, but is a well supervised test for abilities in intelligence, personality, charm, talent, as well as the physical attributes of beauty. One requisite is at least a high school diploma, and the rewards attending the title include scholarship opportunities, according to Charles W. Lunt, executive director.

Last year the local pageant was won by Miss Georganne Demarest. The winner of the Santa Cruz crown will compete for the Miss America title at Atlantic City.

Interested girls should contact the entrants director, Robert Durbrow, 373-2741, or Connie Clark, Carmel 624-5492, or Charles Lunt, Carmel 624-1263 as soon as possible. Deadline for entries is March 24. This year the pageant will be held Saturday, April 24, at the Pacific Grove Junior High School.
